Dear Parent,

The following is the text taken from the CD and Activity Book of 'Polly the Collie'. The underlined page numbers at the top of the texts refer to the page numbers in your child's Activity Book. These pages are to provide you with accurate knowledge of what your child is learning with us. The illustrations can be coloured in by your child as you say together in English what is in the picture. Where it seems that page numbers are missing, it is because these are extra activity pages without recorded text in your child's activity book.

Do remember to put the CD on in the background at least twice daily while your child is playing, dressing, eating, colouring in these downloaded texts or going to bed. This way, he / she will absorb the sounds effortlessly and learn much faster with life-long lasting results.

We hope you enjoy the year with Polly the Collie and her friends!

For afternoon English classes in small groups, we recommend Helen Doron Early English.

Pages 41 - 45

Polly:

Here's the story of the robin that wanted to be a flamingo.

Once upon a time, there was a baby robin — a robin chick. His name was Robby. He lived in a nest with his brother and sister and mummy and daddy. His mummy and daddy were beautiful. They had red chests.

Children:

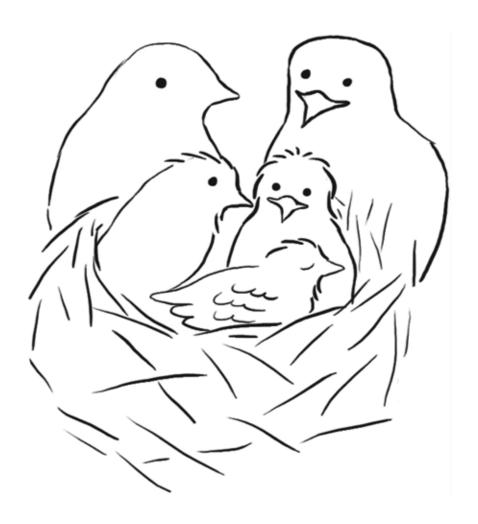

"Mummy and daddy have red chests We have brown, but red is best." X 2

Polly:

And everyone called out "Robin Red-Breast" whenever they saw mother and father robin. But Robby and his brother and sister had brown and yellow speckled chests.

Children

"We are small and we are brown. We want red chests to fly around." X 2

Polly:

One day, Robby and his family flew up high and looked down on the dogs, cats, flowers, trees and people below.

Robby saw some Caribbean flamingos. "Oh," thought Robby, "I wish I were a flamingo.

Flamingos are pink and orange. And I am brown and speckled.

Flamingos are very tall. And I am very short.

Flamingos have a long neck. And I have a short neck.

Flamingos have a long, curved beak. I have a short, straight beak.

Flamingos can stand on one leg. I stand on two legs.

I want to be a flamingo."

Children:

"Mummy and daddy have red chests But flamingos are the best." X 2

Polly:

Robby and his family flew back to their nest. Robby tried standing on one leg. But he fell over! Robby went to sleep and dreamt of being a flamingo,

The next day, Robby and his family flew up high and looked down on the dogs, cats, flowers, trees and people below.

Robby saw some peacocks. "Oh," thought Robby, "I wish I were a peacock.

Peacocks are a beautiful blue. I am brown and speckled.

Peacocks are big. I am very small.

Peacocks have a big, green and gold tail. I have a small, brown tail.

Peacocks have a tail that opens like a fan. My tail doesn't open.

I want to be a peacock."

Children:

"Mummy and daddy have red chests, But peacocks are the best." X 2

Polly:

Robby and his family flew back to their nest. Robby tried to open his tail like a fan — but it wouldn't open! Robby went to sleep and dreamt of being a peacock.

The next day, Robby and his family flew up high and looked down on the dogs, cats, flowers, trees and people below.

Robby saw some common kingfishers. "Oh," thought Robby, "I wish I were a kingfisher.

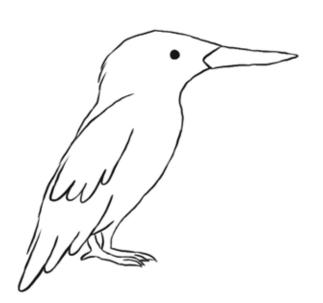

Kingfishers are blue and orange with some white. I am brown and speckled. Kingfishers have a long, straight beak. I have a short, straight beak. Kingfishers can dive into water. I can't dive into water. Kingfishers fly really fast. I can't fly fast. I want to be a kingfisher."

Children:

"Mummy and daddy have red chests But kingfishers are the best." X 2

Polly:

Robby and his family flew back to their nest. Robby tried flying very fast. But he just got out of breath! Robby went to sleep and dreamt of being a kingfisher.

The next day, Robby went out and flew over Pearl and Roy's house. Pearl looked up and said:

Pearl:

"Roy, look at that great Robin Red-Breast!"

Polly:

Robby looked around, but he couldn't see a robin with a red chest. "Do you mean me?" He asked Pearl.

Pearl:

"Yes, of course,"

Polly:

she replied. "You are beautiful."

Polly:

Robby flew over the pond and looked at himself in the water. "Wow, I have a red chest too. I am beautiful. I am so happy that I am a robin. Yippee! Flamingos, peacocks and kingfishers are beautiful. But I am beautiful too. I am happy being me."

Children:

"I am happy being me. I am beautiful, yippee!" X 2
